

The project

- As part of our Impact Week initiative (25-29th September 2023), we are offering free consulting services to organisations and early-stage companies that may not have access to our expertise otherwise. Utilizing our time, networks, and skillset, we are prepared to offer guidance and solutions to address the challenges you have defined in one of our business consulting services, as outlined in the accompanying slide
- If you are selected, we will begin by evaluating your problem statement and submitting a request for information (RFI) to gather the necessary data required to solve the issue at hand
- As part of the process, we expect your participation in an initial kick-off meeting, which will require approximately 2 hours of your time, followed by a discussion/workshop to review and discuss the findings, which will also require approximately 2 hours during week 39
